What happened before the follow-up?

A cancellation and a quiet former client need different context.

An appointment was cancelled.

Check whether the person still wants to rearrange, whether they have already done so and who handles the next response.

A former client has gone quiet.

Check the expected return context and present relevance before deciding who belongs in a reactivation group.

Use the current situation.

01 Give the person an appropriate next step.

02 Record the outcome and respect a decision not to return.

Illustrative process explanation; no booking guarantee.